President Signs Bill Boosting SS Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill increasing Social Security benefits and taxes.

The new law will provide bigger checks starting next February for 12 million retired workers and survivors. The increase will be 7 per cent with a minimum of $3 a month.

It also will raise taxes for old age insurance on some 76 million workers and their employers.

The payroll tax goes up Jan. 1 from 2 per cent for both worker and employer on the first $4,200 of annual income, to 2½ per cent on $4,800.

Newsboys to Arrive Home Early Tonight

After nearly two weeks and some 4,532 miles, five Hope Star newsboys, winners in a circulation contest, Publisher A. H. Washburn and Circulation Manager Pod Rogers, will arrive in Hope tonight at 3 a.m. today.

Mr. Washburn telephoned from Children, Texas shortly after 1 p.m. today, a distance of 363 miles. They left Albuquerque, New Mexico, at 3 a.m. today.

The trip which took in Yellowstone National Park, Colorado and various other western points was cut short a day in order to avoid much of Labor Day weekend traffic, Mr. Washburn said.

Traffic Deaths Show Decrease

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths for the first seven months this year totaled 19,380, a decrease of 7 per cent for the comparable period in 1957. The toll was 20,730 in the first seven months last year, the National Safety Council said.

Texan Sought as Slaying Suspect

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—Aided by a newly obtained description, police today pressed an all-points search for a suspect in the slaying of a Texan near here Wednesday.

Officers yesterday got a description of the man sought from a rural mail carrier, who they declined to identify. The witness said he saw two men standing beside a station wagon on U.S. Highway 70 two miles north of Benton Tuesday afternoon.

Early Wednesday a passing motorist found bullet-torn body of A. Z. Cromwell, 45, of El Paso, Tex. in a ditch beside the road. Cromwell had been shot five times and beaten about the head.

Sheriff James Stead said the suspect is believed to have been a hitchhiker. The station wagon seen by the witness belonged to Cromwell, Stead said. The vehicle, a 1958 brown and white Ford, also is sought.

He (the witness) said the suspect was a young fellow, about 25 to 35 years old, the sheriff said yesterday. He also got the license number of the car and gave it to us.

Stead said the witness told him the men were talking when he passed by, and that the younger man appeared to be drunk.

The sheriff said Cromwell's body, which has been held at a Benton funeral home, will be sent to a funeral home in El Paso for relatives to arrange burial.

Judge and FBI Have Verbal Battle Today

MEMPHIS (AP)—A city judge and an FBI agent clashed verbally yesterday after the judge criticized J. Edgar Hoover in a speech to a convention of peace officers.

The unscheduled byplay came after Judge Beverly Boushe took exception to the FBI director's recent criticism of court leniency and parole policies.

Mr. Hoover, the judge told the Tennessee and Mississippi Sheriffs and Peace Officers Assn., is eminently qualified to run the FBI, but I suggest he should run it and not try to run the courts and parole systems of this country.

Boushe also took critical note of Hoover's contention that the nation's crime picture grows darker each year.

Perhaps Judge Boushe said, if he can draw a darker picture each year, he can get a larger appropriation from Congress.

It was at this point that Julius M. Lopez, FBI agent in charge here, asked for the floor to answer Boushe.

Lopez said the crime figures Boushe questioned were not supplied by the FBI but by 13,000 law enforcement agencies.

I don't know what Judge Boushe's motives are, but the figures are critical and misleading, and I want to set the record straight, Lopez said, adding:

I might say that the judge hasn't always been so critical of the FBI. On Feb. 3, 1942, he applied for a job as an agent for the FBI. He was turned down.

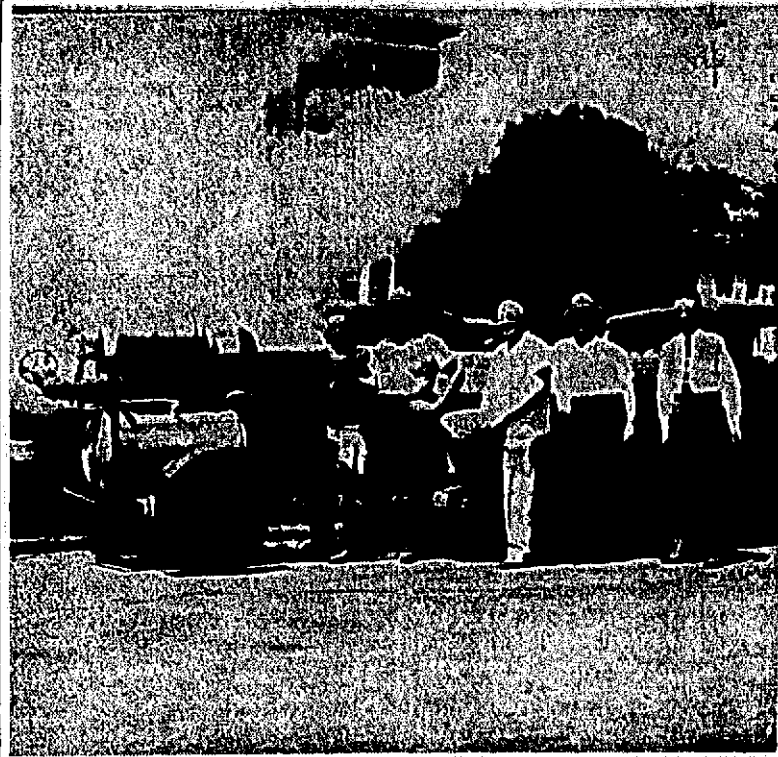

Welfare Fund Bill Signed But Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed, but criticized, legislation requiring administrators of employment and pension funds to disclose how they handle the money.

He said that if the law is to be effective it will require extensive amendment.

In an accompanying statement Eisenhower said:

This bill deals with only a narrow segment of the total labor-management program. And even in this narrow segment it fails to provide necessary protection for the 85 million working men and women whose interest in welfare and pension plans amounts to more than $30 billion dollars. The Congress has failed to respond effectively to the plea for action in this field, and I am sure that the public is as disappointed with it as I am.

Open House at Yerger Sunday p. m.

During the summer contractors and workmen have been busy remodeling and making additions to physical facilities at Yerger High School.

The auditorium in the main building has been petitioned and now houses the library in the east half and the study hall in the west half. The library is modern in every respect. The entire community can be very proud of the library facilities. The entire building has new fluorescent lighting, new seats, new floors and new heating system. The music building is acoustically plastered and provided with office and storage space.

We feel that all the citizens of Hope are interested in the improvements in our schools, and we earnestly invite you to come out and see the facilities you have provided. Open House is our way of asking you to visit us, you, the White and Negro Citizens of Hope and Hempstead County. It is not for the pupils and teachers. If you do not take the time to come out we will be disappointed. Open House will be Sunday, Aug. 31, from 2 to 5 p.m. Will Rutherford, principal, said.

Rules Basis for Contract Is Contractor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The basis of a contract award is a general contractor's bid, and not those of subcontractors, the state attorney general's office ruled yesterday.

The opinion upheld as proper a $250,000 construction award Aug. 6 by the Board of Trustees of Arkansas Tech. at Russellville.

The board and the state purchasing department had received a protest from a subcontractor that his low bid hadn't been considered by Meadows Lumber Co., the low bidder.

Roy Finch Jr., assistant attorney general, said the board was correct in considering only the overall bids in making the award. He said the general contractor makes his own arrangements with subcontractors.

Other rulings by the office held: In justice of the peace elections where candidates run without place designations, the ones with the highest votes win. The opinion was prepared for Justice of the Peace A. C. Burns of Heber Springs.

In township and municipal elections, independent candidates file by paying $1 to the county in township races and $1 to the city treasurer in city races. The opinion went to Mayo R. L. Bailey of Cabot.

State Democrats to Hear McClellan

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The keynote address at the Democratic state convention here next week will be delivered by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.).

Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.) will be permanent chairman, a party spokesman said. State Sen. Jerry Scruton of Hazen was selected as temporary chairman at a Democratic State Committee meeting last week.

The convention will run from noon Sept. 5 to the close of business Sept. 6.

Convention schedules are incomplete, the spokesman said, but the appearances of McClellan and Mills are definite.

Last Holiday of Summer Lures Millions

CHICAGO (AP)—The last holiday weekend of the summer lured millions of motorists to the highways today.

Of the three summer holidays, Labor Day perennially spurs the largest volume of travel. Whereas Memorial Day and July 4 fall on varying days of the week, Labor Day always is on Monday, assuring a three-day weekend.

Many Americans tie the holiday in with their annual vacations and arrive home just in time for the reopening of schools for the fall term. Others used the travel time to drive their older children and belongings off to college.

And millions of others see it simply as a last chance to visit beaches, fishing spots and other outdoor attractions.

The National Safety Council estimates 45 million cars will be on the move over the weekend. The council said this heavy volume of travel could lead to as many as 420 traffic deaths, 70 more than the 350 killed on non-holiday weekends.

The council recommended that drivers reduce speed by at least 10 m.p.h., start trips early and aim for a safe, rather than a quick, arrival, and do no drinking.

Reynolds to Call Back 150 Workers

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Reynolds Metals Co. will call 150 workers back to jobs at its Jones Mills, Ark., plant in reopening an aluminum polline there, the company announced yesterday.

Reopening of the polline will raise the plant's production rate next month to 87,200 tons per year, or four-fifths of its capacity of 190,000 tons, J. Louis Reynolds, executive vice president, said.

The call-back of workers will increase the working force to 1,100. Two of the plant's five pollines were shut down in May because of the business recession. Reynolds said the company is happy that improvement in business condition has made it possible to recall laid-off workers.

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

Mr. Ed Hubbard whose reputation as a grower of large watermelons is very well known may have brought in the champion for the year—a large 145 pounder.

He also brought in a 125 pounder which will be shipped by Terrell Cornelius to Dallas.

Many believe this could be largest of year due to seasonal rains as far as melons are concerned. The melon is now on display at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Last night some local youths, but certainly old enough to know better, tossed a watermelon into a passing auto. Unfortunately the back window was down and the melon hit a small boy in the face, cutting his lip and causing his nose to bleed.

and fortunately the front window was up or the melon would have hit a small month-old baby riding in its mother's arms in the front seat. The boys were at a local drive-in where they sang out night after night dozens of others were in several parked cars but none would say anything to police. You wouldn't

China Threat to Have Bearing on Aid to Formosa

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials said today a new Peking threat will weigh heavily in any decision by President Eisenhower on sending U. S. forces against any Red Chinese invaders in the Formosa Straits.

The State Department was so impressed by Peking's statement that it issued a hands-off warning to the Chinese Communists Thursday.

The United States is pledged by treaty to defend Formosa and the nearby Pescadores Islands, about 100 miles across the strait from the China mainland.

Congress left it up to Eisenhower to decide whether any Red Chinese attack on Quemoy and Matsu, small islands closer to the mainland, was the start of an attack on Formosa and the Pescadores.

If the President decided it was his next step could be to oppose it with the U. S. 7th Fleet and other American military power.

This in part, is what Peking radio said as Red guns pounded Quemoy and Matsu in a continuing bombardment.

The Chinese people's liberation army is determined to liberate the fatherland's territory of Taiwan (Formosa) and the coastal islands.

The Red radio called on Nationalist defenders of Quemoy to surrender, saying the island is doomed... a landing is imminent.

U. S. official said this is probably the loudest such statement yet made by the Red Chinese on this highly inflammable subject.

There was speculation on Formosa that if the Reds really intended to invade the Quemoy area they would not broadcast it in advance.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that Quemoy and Matsu no longer are considered mere outposts. He said they are interlocked with Formosa as never before, with one-third of Chiang's forces deployed on the little islands within sight of the China mainland.

But Eisenhower refused to be drawn out on whether this would affect his judgment on whether Quemoy and Matsu should be defended by U. S. forces. He counseled newsmen that this was a military decision which could not be made until after the event—that is, any Red Chinese assault on the offshore islands.

Supreme Court Delays Integration Decision Until 11th of September

Legislature Is Held on Call by Governor

By ROBERT E. FORD

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus today concurred in action which keeps the Arkansas Legislature on call until Jan. 10. The move is designed to keep the governor's ammunition against integration out of reach of court action until he needs to use it.

Faubus this morning signed a legislative resolution extending the session. His signature was not needed; it merely showed his approval.

The lawmakers plan to go home today, but technically the historic special session will not end until Jan. 10 when a regular session begins.

A Supreme Court decision on whether Little Rock must remain integrated or get a 2½-year delay will not be handed down until after Sept. 11.

Faubus is holding anti-integration bills which he would have to sign within five days or let die if the session ended. But by keeping the lawmakers technically in session he will not have to sign the measures until Jan. 15—sooner if he needs them.

If he signed them into law now, presumably they would be subject to attack in the courts by an interested group like the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The House today completed legislative action on a Senate bill against trespass or disturbances on school property or any public business of any kind.

The vote was 94-0.

The bill by its terms is tied in with the call for legislation to deal with schools but apparently is broad enough to deal with sit-downs such as have been staged by Negroes in Oklahoma City business establishments recently.

The bill forbids a person entering school or other public property and creating a disturbance or a breach of the peace.

The measure specifies that this includes but is not restricted to loud and offensive talk, and making of threats or attempting to intimidate or any conduct which causes a disturbance or breach of the peace or threatened breach of the peace.

Violations would be punishable by fines of as much as $500 and as much as six months imprisonment.

The bill was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Jerry Seroton of Hazen and passed there before going to the House.

The House also passed a House bill relating to leasing of public school facilities, in case of closing, to private educational corporations.

Its sponsor, Reps. Gayle Windsor and J. H. Cottrell Jr. of Pulaski County, said it was designed primarily in the event that Gov. Orval Faubus should use his newly voted authority to close Central High School here.

The vote was 92-0.

The bill now goes to the Senate but cannot be acted on there unless the Legislature—in technical recess after today—should be called back before the next regular session.

The authors said the bill modernizes an 1875 law which permits leasing of closed or abandoned public school property by use as private schools.

The bill would set up conditions which would have to be met by the private leasing corporation, including an approved curriculum, provisions for teacher retirement and the following of state health regulations.

Directors of the public school district would pay tuition for the students in the private school.

Proposes Satellite Orbiting the Sun

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Writer

AMSTERDAM (AP)—A man-made satellite orbiting around the sun was proposed today by Dr. R. P. Haviland of Philadelphia.

He said it is feasible now with present equipment to put it as close to the sun as the planet Mercury.

With greater power, it could come within four to five million miles of the blazing sun, fountain of all life on earth.

Haviland, a General Electric Co. engineer, in a report to the International Astronautical Federation meeting here, envisioned a 2-foot long cone weighing 50 pounds. It could discover vital new information about the sun, he said.

Through use of photoelectric cells, the sides of the cone would always be in shadow to keep them relatively cool despite the tremendous heat. Special measuring instruments would be placed on the sides. The instruments could measure the intensity of ultraviolet light, electrons and protons, and meteor hits. The information would be telemetered to the earth.

New Satellite Goes Into the Atlantic Ocean

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy said today the Vanguard satellite launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Map 27, traveled 7,500 miles into the South Atlantic instead of going into orbit.

The 20-inch, 2½-pound sphere and the 86-pound third stage of the Vanguard rocket were intended to gain altitudes of 300 to 400 miles and then to go into orbit.

Instead, the second stage lifted the rocket to 300 miles, a naval research laboratory report showed.

The second stage engine failed to cut off properly, causing the rocket to fly with its nose in an upward angle instead of parallel to the earth.

The third stage, flying in a high arc, fired at the wrong angle and climbed to a peak altitude of 2,200 miles.

An impact predictor device showed that if the satellite successfully returned to earth it landed near the east coast of South Africa, 7,500 miles from the launching site. However, the laboratory was unable to determine whether the sphere survived the heat of its re-entry into the earth's atmosphere, because radio signals from it failed before that point was reached.

The laboratory account of the firing was made available after the Baltimore Evening Sun reported that the satellite had made the horizontal trip instead of orbiting.

Hurricane Moves Out, Danger Less

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hurricane Daisy swept northward along the New England coast today but its threat to all but offshore waters around Cape Cod was reported practically eliminated.

The Boston Weather Bureau said the storm was decreasing in intensity and its danger to land areas largely terminated.

Earlier uncertainty as to what the New England storm effect would be, however, caused a delay until later today in President Eisenhower's flight to Newport, R.I., for a vacation.

By midmorning the storm center was reported 70 miles south of Nantucket.

Up to that time the land effects had been no more than moderate winds and rain, though the rain was sometimes heavy.

Even in such exposed areas along the coast as Block Island, the storm brought nothing more than gales of less than 50 miles an hour.

Arguments to Be Resumed by Both Sides

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U. S. Supreme Court has delayed for two weeks decision on the school integration crisis at Little Rock, Ark.

The court, in a rare emergency session, listened intently to three hours of arguments Thursday. Then, after a recess, it called for more arguments Sept. 11.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas hold a package of anti-integration bills which, if signed into law, will give him tight control over any integration situation arising in the state's schools. The strongest of the six measures pushed through a special session of the Legislature is one permitting Faubus to close any public school on which integration is being forced.

He said he didn't know when he would sign the bills.

Included in the package which cleared the Legislature were bills permitting the governor to close forcibly integrated public schools; giving him authority to set up segregated classes within an integrated school; providing aid for any student displaced in an integration dispute; an bill postponing the opening of Central High School in Little Rock until Sept. 15. The school board had already postponed the opening date from Sept. 2 to Sept. 8.

Chief Justice Earl Warren said the Supreme Court delayed its decision because Central High would not open until Sept. 15.

Faubus, however, must sign the bill or the school board must act to delay the opening until that date. Thus Central High could open before the court decision. The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People hopes to have Negro children in the school when the fall term opens.

In Charlottesville, Va., the school board Thursday night put off opening all except one of its schools while it decides what to do about conflicting orders from federal and state courts. One high school for Negroes, which is operated jointly by the city and an adjoining county, will open as scheduled Sept. 2. Others will open Sept. 15 unless they are required by state law to close because of integration.

Five Negro children were turned back at Greensboro, N. C., when they sought to register at two white elementary schools. One of the schools was integrated last year and Negro pupils have been assigned to it this year. No Negro pupils have been assigned to the other school.

Lincoln High School of Washington, Ark., will open Wednesday, September 2nd at 9 a.m. with the following faculty:

J. W. Williamson, Principal; G. S. Williamson, Coach and Mathematics; J. P. Powell, Vocational Agriculture and Science; Mrs. G. B. Colston, Vocational Home Economics and Social Science; Miss A. J. Martin, Business Education and English; Mrs. D. L. Williamson, Librarian and Social Science; Mrs. Argusta Trotter, 5th and 6th Grade; Mrs. V. V. Stuart, 4th and 5th Grades; Miss Mary Nash, 2nd and 3rd Grades; Mrs. W. K. Mitchell, 1st Grade and Music; Mrs. Laura Ragon and Mrs. Beulah Graham, Cooks.

All school buses will run their regular routes. The lunchroom will open Sept. 1

Charges Filed in Desertion of Infant

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A young Pennsylvania couple charged with deserting their infant son, and a Missouri charged as an accessory, were ordered to face District Court trials in connection with the alleged swapping of the couple's baby for a 1957 model pickup truck.

Bailed over for trials by Common Pleas Judge Lloyd H. McGuire yesterday were Richard McReady, 26, and his wife, Helene Margaret McReady, 20, of Shannon, Mo., and Jesse Burger, 42, of El Dorado Springs, Mo.

The McReadys, who reportedly are expecting another child, are charged with child desertion. Burger, owner of the truck, is charged with aiding and abetting child desertion.

The charges stem from the alleged Aug. 6 swap of Burger's truck for the couple's 5-month-old son, Paul Anthony, after the Missouri man picked up the hitchhiking couple near Joplin, Mo., and took them to Tulsa.

Highlight of the preliminary hearings was McReady's refusal to answer specific questions on grounds they might "be incriminating."

McReady, a stable hand, was called by the prosecution during Burger's preliminary hearing, but on advice of his court-appointed counsel McReady would answer questions only about his name and residence.

Asked if he had children, McReady replied: "I can't answer that question on grounds it would be incriminating."

Monsanto to Expand Lion at El Dorado

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Monsanto Chemical Co. today announced a multi-million dollar expansion of its Lion Oil Co. refinery here.

H. H. Bible, general manager of Lion, said new facilities would increase crude oil throughput capacity of the plant from 29,000 to 33,000 barrels daily.

The new facilities will include hydro-desulfurization, decarboxylation and tetramer units, each with a capacity of 5,000 barrels daily.

Bible said the hydro-carbonization unit would improve the quality of diesel and fuel oils produced here. The decarboxylation unit would produce paving grade asphalt by upgrading low price residuals and the tetramer unit will produce propylene tetramer, a raw material used by Monsanto's organic chemistry division.

Operation of the decarboxylation unit will put the company in a position to meet the greater demand for paving asphalt created by the federal highway program, Bible said.

Engineering and purchasing work on the new facilities has begun. Completion is expected by early 1960.

Bible, who declined to give an exact cost estimate of the expansion, pointed out that it is the second announced for the El Dorado refinery in recent months. A catalytic reformer, started last April, now is near completion.

Only five Arkansas governors were not elected as Democrats.

U. S. Making Jupiter Into War Weapon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Army has taken another big step toward making its Jupiter intermediate-range ballistic missile an operational war weapon.

The 10th Jupiter blasted 1,500 miles across the Atlantic Wednesday night. The Defense Department announced the test was a complete success.

The Jupiter launched was essentially the same as the rocket that will be used under tactical conditions, except that the warhead was not armed with a nuclear device.

The 69-foot missile, which will provide the big push for the Army's moon rocket, is expected to be deployed in Europe next December, together with the Air Force Thor IRBM.

The shoot also coincided with presentation of a semi-operational Jupiter to the first Air Force unit that actually will be assigned the weapon.

Authentic sources said Brig. Gen. John A. Barclay, commander of the Army ballistic missile agency, was to turn the first Jupiter over to the Air Force 86th Strategic Jupiter Squadron in ceremonies at a Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

The 86th will be given advanced training with the Jupiter before the unit is assigned overseas, probably on the European continent.

Networks Deny Charge of TV Quiz Fraud

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Co. and producers of the "Twenty-one" television quiz show deny charges by a contestant that the program was rigged.

Herbert Stempel, who won $50,000 on the show, contended he was coached on the answers before he went on the air and then was told gerty said Mrs. Eisenhower probably will leave Washington Friday morning and travel by way of New York. Hagerty said the First Lady probably will not arrive at Newport until Saturday.

Asked if a Weather Bureau warning that hurricane Daisy may hit the general area of the vacation headquarters, might delay Eisenhower's departure, Hagerty said:

"I don't know what to say except THAT I thought I won honestly, that I thought I won honestly."

to miss a question which enabled Herbert Stempel who had won more than $50,000.

Hogan confirmed that Stempel's testimony brought the show into the TV quiz program probe, touched off by a complaint of a contestant on the Dotto show.

Jack Barry and Dan Egan, producers, issued a statement saying Stempel's charges were entirely spurious and malicious.

NBC issued a statement simultaneously, terming the accusations utterly baseless and untrue.

The network said it learned of them over a year ago and at the investigation turned up nothing to substantiate them.

Hogan, nominated for the U.S. Senate this week at the Democratic State Convention in Buffalo, said his investigation of TV quiz shows has uncovered nothing thus far to warrant grand jury action.

Van Doren, who went on to win $120,000 after beating Stempel, said: "I'm sad and I'm shocked. I don't know what to say except THAT I thought I won honestly, that I thought I won honestly."

Chapter XXV

D. L. MATHEWS

He started back to his desk, when the desk officer called him.

He walked over and took the slip of paper the man had just written.

"The state police just called in. They found Hal Verhey. At least they found what is left of him."

Morrison turned an inquisitive glance on the desk man and asked, "I didn't know Verhey was gone."

"He tried to get by another car up in Sagan Pass. I guess it was a blind curve, because he met a tanker and trailer, head on."

"They're still fighting the fire. One of the state patrolmen knew the car he was driving, so they were able to identify him. The car belonged to an old guy that owns a garage up there."

"What was Verhey doing in a car that didn't belong to him and why up there?"

"They didn't say. The wreck started a fire and they've been busy with it. They'll call us soon as there's something to tell."

"O.K. Keep me informed. I'm going to talk to the captain."

Captain Harris was ready to leave, but when he saw it was Morrison, he went back to his desk.

"You should be an authority on where to have shoes repaired," he said mildly. "Did you find anything of value?"

"I think so. One man is sure the repair job on the heel was his work, but he doesn't remember who he did it for. Fleck and Grimes are trying to let him get a look at anyone that could fit Dr. Murdock's description."

"That sort of work is time-consuming but valuable. Was there something else?"

Morrison looked at the placid man and wondered if anything ever got through his thick veneer. He knew and respected the man's brilliant mind, but he couldn't help wondering if he ever considered the people with whom he dealt in any but a clinical way.

"Verhey is dead," he said shortly, and was pleased to see the captain show some surprise.

"How did it happen?"

"It was an auto wreck. There aren't too many details yet. He hit a gasoline tanker and it started a fire. The state police have been too busy to give us much, yet."

"State police? What are they doing on it?"

"The wreck occurred on the east slope of Sagan Pass."

"I see. Was he running?"

"I don't know. It looks funny, but he did. He had no reason to run, though; his alibi checked out."

"You said he seemed frightened when you talked to him," the captain reminded him.

Morrison pulled out another cigarette and lit it. "Maybe it's just a run-of-the-mill accident."

"In Sagan Pass?"

"Yeah, I know," he answered, but was saved from saying anything further by a knock on the door.

It was the desk officer with more information on the wreck. He handed his notes to Morrison and left.

Morrison read the new information, and felt sick.

"He was running, Captain. He told the guy that joined him the car that something was wrong with his and that he had to make a service call and fix a faucet that was full of food, in Sullana. There was nothing wrong with his car and the groceries in Sullana where he was supposed to go says there isn't anything wrong with his freezer. Mac got his answer, too. Verhey took a fall for robbery four years ago in Joplin."

"Something to hide," the captain said softly, "or rather something he thought he had to hide."

"Even so," Morrison asked bitterly, "he didn't kill the kid, so why run?"

"You've forgotten one of your first lessons in police work, Lieutenant. You can't account for people's actions. They do things, and that's that. Never try to figure out why. Leave that to the psychiatrists."

The dress shop where Helen Verhey worked was only a few blocks from the station. But he took the car anyway. No matter how carefully he worked the news it was bound to hit her like a 10-ton truck, and she'd be in no condition to get home alone.

He opened the door and stepped into the perfumed interior. The floor was carpeted in a nubby gray and there were little groups of low fat chairs upholstered in a kind of pinkish velvet. There were large mirrors on all the walls, and they had a pinkish cast to them, too.

Once used to the indirect lighting, Morrison examined the room more thoroughly, and there wasn't a single dress to be seen. He was so busy looking and trying to overcome his feeling that he had

Activity Noted in U. S. Marshal Office

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A bustle of activity was noted today in the offices of the U. S. district attorney, new and U.S. marshal here.

The federal agencies apparently were readying themselves for action pending orders from the U.S. Supreme Court.

Justice Department officials have refused comment on reports that U.S. marshals in several states have been alerted for possible duty in Little Rock in connection with the integration controversy. Federal officials here today alleged their refusal to comment somewhat.

No comment at this time," news men were told.

Justice Department attorneys from Washington, D.C., were seen working with assistants of U.S. District Atty. Oren Cobb. Agents of both the Justice Department and Army intelligence made trips in and out of Marshal R. Ben Kidd's office

State to Get $3 Million in Public Work

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has voted more than 30 million dollars for use on public works in Arkansas in the year ending June 30, 1959.

The total includes money appropriated for various Arkansas water projects and for three new federal buildings at Helena, Hot Springs and Little Rock.

In addition, Arkansas has a strong interest in nearly 50 million dollars Congress voted for water projects on the White and Arkansas rivers in Missouri and Oklahoma.

The Independent Offices appropriation bill carries funds for the new federal buildings. The Little Rock project got $5,541,000; Hot Springs, $1,558,000; Helena, $20,000.

Arkansas water projects for which appropriations were voted: Arkansas River emergency bank stabilization, $2,541,000; Beaver dam and reservoir, $750,000; Bull Shoals additional power units, $500,000; Dardanelle lock and dam, $2,500,000; Greer's Ferry dam and reservoir, $3,000,000; Mc Kinney Bayou and Barkman creek, $300,000; Red River levees below Denison, $400,000, and Walnut Bayou, $75,000.

Those funds are for construction. In addition, the public works bill carries planning money of $900,000 for the Arkansas River and tributaries and $150,000 for Millwood reservoir.

Under the general Lower Mississippi River project are these Arkansas construction items: St. Louis, $4,000,000; Lower Arkansas, $500,000, and Beaufort and Texas, $1,000,000.

Congress also voted $12,400,000 for the Table Rock reservoir in Missouri and $20,000,000 for the Keystone, Bufala and Oolagah reservoirs in the Arkansas River basin in Oklahoma.

Arkansas projects lost a little money through not a great deal of the compromise version of the bill. The conference committee trimmed $2,000,000 from bank stabilization work, $1,000,000 from Greer's Ferry and $350,000 from Red River levees.

The story on the Arkansas River bank stabilization money is this: The House originally voted only $541,000 for emergency work. The Senate, at the urging of Sen. John L. McClellan, approved this amount and added $4,000,000 for bank stabilization and channel reclamation under the comprehensive development plan.

In compromising the differences the House conferees objected to any money for channel reclamation—a step in developing the stream for navigation. So the $4,000,000 was cut in half and $2,000,000 added to emergency bank stabilization, making "that item total $2,541,000."

The result is that funds will be available for bank stabilization work along the stream, but there will be no money for channel reclamation.

For Greer's Ferry, the House voted $4,000,000, which was what Army Engineers asked. The Senate hiked this to $5,000,000 and McClellan then surrendered this extra million in the conference.

Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark) said the $4,000,000 will be ample.

The $750,000 which Congress voted for Beaver dam will complete planning and get preliminary construction phases started.

The $150,000 for Millwood will allow the Engineers to begin planning on that long deferred flood control and water supply dam.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) still was without the full use of his voice in the closing days of Congress.

It was something of a handicap. For a few days before adjournment he sought to make a second major foreign affairs policy speech. He got about half way through it, lost his voice and had to insert the remainder in the record.

A couple of weeks earlier he was unable to speak at all and had a Senate clerk read a foreign policy talk.

Fulbright's ailment came on suddenly when a small blood vessel in his vocal chords ruptured. For a couple of weeks he was barely able to whisper. Then his voice got stronger and he was able to start the day with sound but by late in the day he was back to a croak. That's the way he wound up the session.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix: For twenty years I was married to a woman who was the acme of feminine perfection. She could run my business when I was ill, give parties for 50 people, arrange a dinner for eight on a few hours' notice, sing before a huge audience, do a magnificent job of interior decorating, and sew clothes that drew admiring looks from everyone. She passed away two years ago, leaving my heart and home empty. I am a successful businessman and know fine women. Many of them, I know, would be glad to be my "Mrs.," some have quietly pursued me. Now, of course, can be compared to my wife. Do you think I would be happy in a second marriage? Unsettled.

Dear Unsettled: One who has known perfection can rarely be satisfied with anything less. You have wonderful memories and, since you can afford feminine companionship when you want it and have household help to care for your domestic needs, you would doubtless be better off as a widower.

If you do become lonely and want to marry, please resolve never, to make comparisons between your first and second wives. Face it squarely, you were lucky enough to get one paragon, you're not getting a second. Cherish the woman for the good qualities she does possess. Sometimes "second best" is better than nothing at all.

Dear Dorothy Dix: All my life I have made a great study of Abraham Lincoln. I never married and at 35 I have met a man born under the sign of Aquarius, just as Lincoln was. I'm sure he must have some of Mr. Lincoln's great qualities and would make a wonderful husband. My friends point out that he has failed at two previous marriages and is unlikely to make a successful husband for me. However, I believe in the stars. Don't you?

Bonnie Lou

Dear Bonnie Lou: The world has waited a hundred years for another Abraham Lincoln; I doubt if you're going to come up with one. The man's record is a more reliable indication of his character than is his Zodiac sign. The stars may be right, but he isn't.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a widower of 48, living with a married son and his wife. I don't get along with her at all. I have a friend who has been around the world several times as a merchant seaman. He is very rough in his manners—a diamond in the rough. I guess you would call him. I'd be glad to marry to get away from my daughter-in-law. Do you think he'd make a good husband?

Dear Dix: Have you honestly put as much effort into getting along with your son's family as you have into snagging a man? Honest effort rarely goes unappreciated. I'm sure if you tried to co-operate with your daughter-in-law she'd meet you half-way.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) still was without the full use of his voice in the closing days of Congress.

It was something of a handicap. For a few days before adjournment he sought to make a second major foreign affairs policy speech. He got about half way through it, lost his voice and had to insert the remainder in the record.

A couple of weeks earlier he was unable to speak at all and had a Senate clerk read a foreign policy talk.

Fulbright's ailment came on suddenly when a small blood vessel in his vocal chords ruptured. For a couple of weeks he was barely able to whisper. Then his voice got stronger and he was able to start the day with sound but by late in the day he was back to a croak. That's the way he wound up the session.

DOROTHY DIX

You'd never be happy with a man whose only asset was that he provided a means of escape for you.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My sister's husband treats me like a slave. Because of that, my mother won't let me go with any boy. She says all men are alike and I'll marry I'll be as unhappy as my sister. I guess she just wants me to stick home and be an old maid. Should I leave home? I'm 18—Juliette

Dear Juliette: Mom must have had a bad matrimonial deal herself, and has come to believe the condition is catching. Sizing up your matrimonial prospects is a do-it-yourself project. If possible, your sister's mistakes—It's possible, it's a hasty decision, and you have a better-than-average chance for a good marriage.

Statement on Integration No Surprise

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has finally said he thinks public school integration should go slower is no surprise to anyone who has carefully examined his news conference statements over the past 2½ years.

His whole theme—although he never flatly said so until Wednesday—has been that this is a slow process. He's talked of patience, of educating people on the issues, and said laws can't change the hearts or prejudices of people.

But what came as a surprise was the time he chose to say publicly that he thinks the Supreme Court's order to end public school segregation should be carried out at an even slower pace than it's going.

Only eight days ago—when the Little Rock school integration case was still in the hands of a lower court—Eisenhower said he did not want to comment on a case pending in the courts.

But his statement Wednesday about slower integration came one day before the Supreme Court was to hear arguments on whether integration at Little Rock's Central High School should be resumed or delayed.

A reporter quoted Newsweek magazine as saying Eisenhower had told friends he thought integration should slow down. Asked if that was correct, the President said he might have told someone that.

However, Eisenhower denied any other part of the magazine story that quoted him as saying privately he wishes the high court had never handed down its 1954 decision declaring public school integration unconstitutional.

Never throughout news conferences—going back to February 1956—has he given any sign that he had any clear plan for enforcing the Supreme Court's order.

He's repeatedly mentioned talking to educators, clergymen and occasional governors he met about the need to get people to understand the problem of integration and obeying the Supreme Court.

He's refused repeatedly to say whether he thinks the court's order was good or right.

All he's ever really said about his intentions was that he had taken an oath to enforce the laws. At one time—Sept. 11, 1957—he seemed to think he himself couldn't do anything that the job was up to U.S. marshals.

That day he said: "The federal government is not allowed to go into any state unless called upon by the governor who must show that the governor is unable with the means at his disposal to preserve order."

And on July 17, 1957, Eisenhower or said: "I can't imagine any set of circumstances that would ever induce me to send federal troops into a federal court and into any area to enforce the orders of a federal court, because I believe the common sense of America will never require it."

But a couple of months later—when Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus used National Guard troops to block a court order to integrate Central High School—Eisenhower sent in federal troops—not at Faubus' request, but over his protests.

It will long be argued whether Faubus ever would have used the guardsmen or blocked integration if Eisenhower on July 17 had instead of giving the impression he'd never use troops—had said he'd use them when and where necessary.

Eisenhower apparently didn't even know on July 17, 1957, whether he could use troops, for he told his news conference that day: "Now, there may be that kind of authority resting somewhere, but I certainly am not seeking any additional authority of that kind, and I would never believe that it would be a wise thing to do in this country."

But after the Little Rock experience and while federal troops were still there, Eisenhower—on May 14, 1958—was asked if he'd send troops into other states if necessary to compel obedience to a court order. He said: "Now, I don't know. I am not going to try to predict what the exact circumstances in any other cases will be."

On Aug. 6, 1958, Eisenhower, re-integrated that another school year

Virginia Takes Up Integration Pleas Today

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Judge George M. Coles of Corporation Court opens a hearing today on a request that he enjoin the Charlottesville School Board from assigning pupils—white or Negro—to public schools.

The injunction petition, filed by attorneys representing two white parents, contends that the board's local pupil placement plan is "in violation and open disregard" of state law, which vests all pupil assignment powers with the Virginia Pupil Placement Board.

In a related development, the placement board suggested Wednesday that both the Charlottesville and Norfolk school boards let it handle the assignment of any Negro children seeking admission to white schools.

"The Pupil Placement Board is ready and willing to place and assign pupils to the public schools in your school district if you will make available to it the necessary information upon which it can act," the board said in identical telegrams. "It is now and has been ready to discharge its duties pursuant to the law of Virginia."

Both Norfolk and Charlottesville are under federal court orders to desegregate schools next

Magic Number for the Yanks Is Now Three

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees should finally get around to making Washington the first victim of the inevitable in the American League pennant race this weekend.

The champions' magic number for officially eliminating the last-place Senators is three. Any combination of Yankee victories and Washington defeats totaling three does the job.

The Yankees open a three-game set at Washington tonight. But if the Senators are doomed to be the first to go, they won't be alone very long. The number is 17 for the Yankee pennant clincher over the second-place Chicago White Sox.

The magic numbers that officially eliminate the rest of the league go like this: Boston, 18; Baltimore, 13; Detroit, 12; Cleveland and Kansas City, 9.

By comparison, Milwaukee's League is 21 after piling third pennant number in the National League is 21 after rapping third-place San Francisco in the only game scheduled in either league Thursday.

All that looms ahead for the Yankees, who have been in first place since April 10, the fifth day of the season, is a job of getting their pitching back on the beam for the World Series. Which is an incredible thing, as Casey Stengel would say, when you figure his guys are 11½ games out front.

Fact is, the Yankees have a staff that has produced 48 complete games this season (second only to Milwaukee's 57 in the majors), yet they've managed but 19 in 20 games over the past three weeks.

Whitney Ford (14-7) will go tonight against Pete Ramos (11-13). Elsewhere tonight, it's Detroit at Chicago, with the Tigers sending Herb Moford (3-6) against Dick Donovan (10-12). Baltimore, trying to shake off Detroit for a first-division finish, is at Boston. The Orioles have named Arnie Portocarrero (12-9) against Frank Sullivan (10-7) of the Red Sox, who are trying to catch Chicago.

Cleveland (Gary Bell, 7-8) is at Kansas City (Ned Garver, 11-9).

Pirates Have 10 Telling Days Ahead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pittsburgh's persistent Pirates thunder into 10 telling days in the National League pennant chase tonight, opening a three-game series at Milwaukee with the first-place Braves.

The next 19 days could be thrilling or chilling for the nolonger-bumblers. At the moment, they're in second place, 7½ games behind the Braves. They stand 78 against the Braves with seven games remaining in the season series.

All seven are scheduled for the next 10 days—three at Milwaukee this weekend, four at Pittsburgh next weekend.

Milwaukee wrapped up a 1-1 series at San Francisco Thursday by smacking the third-place Giants 3-0 behind Bob Rush's 10th pitching in the only game scheduled in either league.

Rush (12-12) walked but one and struck out seven while giving up eight singles plus a triple and double to Orlando Cepeda.

The Braves had only six hits—four of 'em by Red Schoendienst, who doubled home the second run—off loser Johnny Antonelli, now 14-1. Del Crandall's walk and stolen base, tripping errors by catcher Bob Schmidt and center fielder Willie Mays, gave the Braves the run they needed to push the Giants nine games back in the fifth inning.

The Pirate end right-hander Bob Friend against southern Warren Spahn, the NL top winner with 17 tonight.

The Giants are home to the fourth-place Dodgers, with Paul Gail (4-3) opposing Don Drysdale (9-11). In the rest of the all-night game schedule, it's Chicago (Glen Hobbie, 9-9) at St. Louis (Sam Jones, 11-0), and Philadelphia (Don Cardwell, 2-2) at Cincinnati (Bob Fucker, 14-8).

Bobcats Feeling Grind of 2 Workouts Daily

The grind of two a day (practice sessions) has hit the Bobcat squad as the second week of grid practice comes to a close, Coach John Pierce said today.

"It's the time when the boys are wondering if the whole thing is worth the effort of hard, bruising workouts. Most of the boys are just before rounding into shape and this is the time every season when encouragement from the fans does more than anything else to build a squad's morale," one of the coaches said.

While most of the boys put forth full effort in practice this week some were only going at half speed. Coach Pierce commented, "Too many are weak, which plainly shows they are not in condition."

"They all need the encouragement of everyone now, not after they have proven themselves on the field," the coach said.

This week the squad was kept busy getting acquainted with the offense but needs a lot of polish in timing the line and backfield. The backs showing up pretty fair are Johnny Graves, Don Bogie, Eddie King, Joe Duke, David Watkins and Billy Butler.

Showing best in the line are Jerry Thurman, Roy Rowe, Bill Hays, Winston Duke, Larry Wallon and Bobby Embry.

The coaches are still undecided on any starting lineup offensively or defensively. "Some of the boys we had counted on heavily are still going at half speed and are not helping us at the present time," Coach Pierce said, indicating he was hopeful they would come around as expected.

Two practices daily will continue until school starts. The Bobcats open on Sept. 12 against Pine Bluff.

"Even the actors are getting fed up with all these rotten 'tough' Westerns. Why for eight years, starring in these rough, tough, he-man shows, Guy Madison hasn't kissed a single girl on camera, that is."

Miss Ainsworth, a hefty blonde with a sentimental smile, is overtly proud of her distinction of being the only woman producer in America's film capital. Says she: "I'm just naturally emotional, but I think it takes some of that to get some heart into movies. Of course you have to have plenty of tough business sense too."

After all, movie production is one of the country's biggest businesses. But it can't be all business.

"For instance, when I take on a new client, I'm not only his business manager, but also practically a nursemaid, confidante and mother."

Actors are sensitive people and you have to handle them carefully. Build up their souls, keep them ticking."

Among Miss Ainsworth's disciples are such stars as Carol Channing, John Raitt, Howard Keel and, of course, Guy Madison. Her first TV commitment under the new production company will be a weekly series starring Madison in a romantic period role.

"It must be a girl! I heard the mother say it was crazy about its bath!"

"I did it with a hat pin. It saves moving the hose around!"

"Hey, mom! They're going to launch the City Beautiful campaign with a big parade and they've asked me to be Miss Wast' Paper!"

"OH, DEAR! I WOULD JUST CAN'T RESIST CLOCKS!"

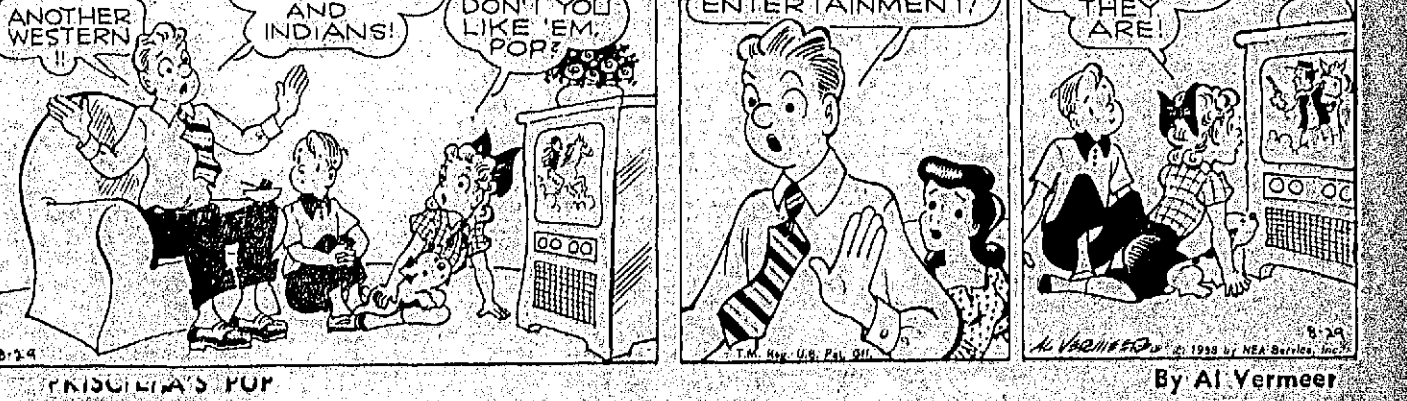

"WELL, THANKS! HOW NICE! WHAT IS IT, DEAR?"

"HARMON, WE'VE KNOWN ALL ALONG THAT YOU'VE BEEN FORGING YOUR MOTHER'S NAME TO CHECKS!"

"WHY? BECAUSE THEY'RE NOT ADULT ENTERTAINMENT!"

"HOW'S THAT FINE, PEACEFUL FROM A BANKER OF ANY GUY IN THE SHOP? HE'S A SNEAK, BUT HE'S LIKE THEM, REAL CANAL POLICE. THEY MAKE A SMALL PAYIN' JOB LOOK LIKE A BIG ONE. WE'LL ALL BE HAPPY IF WE COULD DO THAT."

"TELL ME, TWIGGS, DO YOU THINK LEANDER SHOULD BE PUNISHED? I SAY NO. AFTER ALL, HE SAW CAXTER TURN THE HOSE ON OUR CAT A MOST INHUMAN ACT. WHAT WAS MORE NATURAL, THEN, THAN TO PLAN A LITTLE REVENGE? THE LAD'S FULL OF MISCHIEF, I'LL ADMIT, BUT THE AFFAIR REQUIRED A TOUCH OF GENIUS!"

"TAKE IT EASY, BUGS! SPEED IT UP, YER LAGGIN' BEHIND!"

"THAT'LL REFRESH YA! TH' GYM FER A SHOWER!"
